

The 25/51 “Needing” to be First

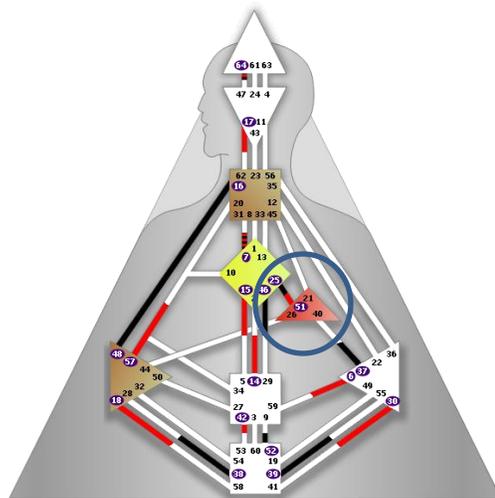

What the heck does that mean? “You NEED to be first?! What a little prima donna.” You might think it sounds kind of arrogant. It can be, if it is demanded from the mind. It is easy to forget how aura frequencies work because it is invisible, and when the aura does the talking, it is magic. Not the gun-slissing mental mouth.

The 25/51 Basics

Genetics gave me a short body so I was often first in line at school or was placed at the front of the class, fortunately so I could see over everyone’s heads (which coincidentally supported my “outer vision” brain to absorb information and learn instantly by seeing.) Carrying the 25/51 frequency can “invite” others to bring us in early in the game. They probably don’t know why. There is no defined ‘reason’ built into the frequency, although we can feel pressured to concoct one at first. Rather we realize the benefits later. Like the 45 king or queen who carries “entitlement,” the 25/51 frequency carries the potential thrill of “competing” to get in at the beginning.

In the corporate world, I typically joined teams in the developmental stage, and my 42 kept me rolling pretty much to completion of the project. By the end of a project, however, I was interested in and pulled towards something new, so there was an attraction to move on, sometimes a bit before the project was totally finished.

The channel of initiation, as a projected channel, means being invited by a topic or another person that gets us initiated into something new without necessarily having much detail. If our heart (will) is in it, then off we go. Sometimes that frequency is the new infusion of blood (gate 25) that becomes the ‘need’ that moves the team or project or idea forward. Or not. By the way, the 25/51 is a powerful OC16 channel that brings the needed competitiveness and capacity for larger organizations to prosper.

A 25/51 Amplified

If you have the 25/51, remember that your frequency gets amplified by others in mega-tons. Don't underestimate the volume of that amplification. You get people competing with you all the time and you innocently wonder why, and maybe what's wrong with them. They grab something off the grocery shelf just as you are reaching for it. They race you to the check out line. On the freeway, they are the jerks trying to zoom around you in a dangerous way. Road rage. I see it all the time.

My husband races me to get the newspaper when it thunks against the front door. I've learned to surrender to the power of his 20/34 with an open ego amplifying my 25/51. Now that is funny! Understanding our designs brings humor to life and lets our 15 yr. marriage keep going with a chuckle instead of a crisis (he has the 36.) I don't compete with the amplification any more. I love the irony!

If you do not have the 25/51 and have a friend who does, just watch how they “make” you walk faster, or you “make” need to head of the line, or you want to win the game...it goes on and on and on....it's hilarious when you are aware of frequencies in action.

The 25/51 “Needing” to be First

The Nuance of “Need”

But there is another nuance I recently became aware of and really got the initiation to write today. I could feel this nuance in my body. It is about when the 25/51 is first, and why it needs to be first. The 25/51 is at its best when it is there from the beginning. There is a distinction between the energy of getting ‘caught up’ with what has been going on, which can feel confusing/overwhelming/poltergeist-like and slows the process down, versus having the continuity and perspective of being there from the beginning. It is like night and day. And your authority will let you know if the process is too far along to be right for you with a big fat “NO.”

Catching up does not even begin to replace being there from the beginning. Again, the 25/51 is at its best when it is there from the beginning. It needs to be there at the beginning. And that benefits everyone. But you won’t know why at the beginning. That is just the way it is.

From my big, fat heart,
Becky Markley

www.HumanDesignForYou.com

You are invited to write me about your experiences at becky@HumanDesignForYou.com. I will read your email and may reply if & when I splenically react to. Just know that I do welcome and read all emails and value your experiences.

